As the New Year begins, we all wonder what the future might hold. This origami fortune teller can give you a hint. Origami is the ancient art of paper folding, dating back to the sixth century when the Buddha carried paper to Japan. The tradition of origami has spread worldwide and has influenced many forms of paper folding in other traditions. Have fun creating your own predictions for the future in this easy DIY activity!

MATERIALS

1. Paper
2. Pencils
3. Crayon
4. Markers
As the New Year begins, we all wonder what the future might hold. This origami fortune teller can give you a hint. Origami is the ancient art of paper folding, dating back to the sixth century when the Buddha carried paper to Japan. The tradition of origami has spread worldwide and has influenced many forms of paper folding in other traditions. Have fun creating your own predictions for the future in this easy DIY activity!

MATERIALS

1. Paper
2. Pencils
3. Crayon
4. Markers
INSTRUCTIONS

Step 1
Gather your materials and start by taking a piece of paper and folding it diagonally towards the other corner of the paper making it into a triangle shape.

Step 2
To get a square piece of paper, cut the bottom part that was leftover when you formed your triangle, and cut it off.

Step 3
Taking the square piece of paper fold it over on the other side that was not folded at to create two intersecting lines creating an X on the paper.

Step 4
Then start folding the corners towards the middle so that all 4 corners meet at the middle of the paper.
INSTRUCTIONS

Step 5
Once you are done, flip your paper over, take the corners, fold towards the middle, and repeat on the other corner until all four corners meet in the middle of the paper again.

Step 6
It should create 4 open corners where you can place your fingers in in order to move around your origami.

Step 7
Once you have created your origami you decorate and place fortune telling’s inside of the origami. Feel free to freestyle and don’t forgot to have fun!